Supporting Agriculture & Rural Communities

The Richard Oatley foundation is delighted to be supporting the Frome Fatstock Show 2023, and would like to join the organisers in welcoming you to this wonderful event.

Like many of those in attendance today, the late Richard Oatley was passionate about farming and agriculture across Wiltshire and Somerset, especially in the Frome area.

At the end of his long life, Richard established the Richard Oatley Foundation to support numerous well-known organisations whose work were close to his heart and as a local farmer who had spent his entire life in the area; knew the importance of farming and agriculture to local communities and the many challenges faced by those working in, and relying on, the industry.

So, it was important to him that the Foundation supported organisations that genuinely benefit the local community and can make a difference.

The Foundation continues to support several farming and agricultural organisations in their work and is funding charities involved in cancer research and patient support, organisations that assist in the enhancement of community facilities, promotion of rural opportunities and the protection of historic buildings.

Richard was also passionate about engaging young people with farming and the opportunities to work on the land and with livestock, we are actively supporting this endeavour to ensure farming has a bright future for generations to come.

The Foundation is very proud to be partnering with the Frome & District Christmas Fatstock Society to support their activities with local farmers.
